-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1-6, 13-23 and 28-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5019125 to Rebne et al, in view of US 5988429 to Coe.

As to claim 1, Rebne discloses a packaging system, comprising:
a tray (12, fig 2); a blister pack (34, fig 2) comprising a general access zone including a plurality of general access chambers (37-38), a restricted access zone including a plurality of restricted access chambers (39-40), and a chamber-free zone (area surrounded by 37, 38, 39 and 40, fig 2) including a guide slot (45) extending into said chamber-free zone, said general access zone and said restricted access zone being separated by said chamber-free zone (fig 2); Rebne lacks a blister retaining cap coupled to said tray for slidably securing said blister pack within said tray; and a hinging cap hinge ably mounted to said tray, said hinging cap controlling access to said restricted access zone. Coe teaches about the blister retaining cap (36, fig 1) and hinging cap (22) hinge ably (24) mounted to the tray. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide blister retaining cap and hinge ably mounted cap to the tray as claimed; such a modification would predictably provide easy access. Rebne also discloses a hinge cap in fig 6. "A combination of familiar elements according to known methods is likely to be obvious when it does no more than yield predictable results." KSR Int 'l v. Teleflex Inc., 127 S.Ct. 1731, 82 USPQ2d at 1396. Remember, It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

As to claim 2, Rebne discloses a tray (12) comprises a frame including end walls (17, 18), sidewalls (20, 21), and a mounting post (50) attached to said frame.

As to claim 3, Rebne discloses a tray includes at least one general access window (28, 29) corresponding in position with said general access chambers, and at least one restricted access window (30, 31) corresponding in position with said restricted access chambers.

As to claim 4, Rebne discloses each one of said plurality of general access chambers includes at least one general access item (42), and each one of said plurality of restricted access chambers includes at least one restricted access item (42).

As to claim 5, Rebne discloses a central guide post (51) extending through said guide slot.

As to claim 6, Rebne as modified in view of Coe discloses a blister retaining cap further includes a base (39) and walls (37) that form a hood, said hood covering the restricted access zone of said blister pack when said blister pack is in a first position.

As to claim 13, Rebne disclose in another embodiment an outer sleeve (211, fig 7) configured to receive tray, blister pack and capable of receiving a retaining cap and hinging cap.

As to claim 14, Rebne as modified above discloses an outer sleeve includes a first open end and a second open end (slide ably engaged, fig 7), such that when said tray is extended from said first open end the child-resistant hinging cap is accessible, and when said tray is extended from said second end the general access zone is accessible.

As to claim 15, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses that a tray, said retaining cap, and said child-resistant hinging cap comprise a plastic material (summary).

As to claim 16, Rebne discloses that an access item comprises any one of a first medication (Abstract).

As to claim 17, Rebne discloses a blister pack (cartridge, 34), comprising: a general access zone including a plurality of general access chambers (37, 38), each one of said general access chambers including at least one general access item (42); a restricted access zone including a plurality of restricted access chambers (39, 40), each one of said restricted access chambers including at least one restricted access item (42); and, a chamber-free zone (area surrounded by 37, 38, 39 and 40) including a guide slot (45), said general access zone and said restricted access zone being separated by said chamber-free zone (fig 2).

As to claim 18, Rebne discloses an access items comprise a first medication (Abstract).

As to claim 19, Rebne discloses blister pack with a backing material (54, fig 4) affixed to the open side of said access chambers for securely enclosing said general access items within said general access chambers and said restricted access items within said restricted access chambers.

As to claim 20, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses a method for packaging items as discussed above in rejection of claim 1

As to claim 21, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses a method for packaging items as discussed above in rejection of claims 20 and 4.

As to claim 22, the claim limitations are the combination of claims 21 and 19, therefore, the 103 rejection of claim has been discussed above.

As to claim 23, the claim limitations are the combination of claims 22 and 2, therefore, the 103 rejection of claim has been discussed above.

As to claim 28, the claim limitations are the combination of claims 1 and 18, therefore, the 103 rejection of claim has been discussed above.

As to claim 29, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses a method for packaging items as discussed above in rejection of claim 17.

As to claim 30, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses a method for packaging items as discussed above in rejection of claim 18.

As to claim 31, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses a method for packaging items as discussed above in rejection of claim 19

As to claim 32, Rebne modified in view of Coe discloses a method for packaging items as discussed above in rejection of claim 3 and 19.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 7 and 24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Dependent claims 8-12 and 25-27 would also then be allowable.

Conclusion

4. Examiner's note: Examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references as applied to the claims above for the convenience of the applicant.

Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings of the art and are applied to the specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant in preparing responses, to fully consider the references in entirety as potentially teaching all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the Examiner.

5. Prior Art not relied upon: Please refer to the references listed in attached PTO-892, which, are not relied upon for claim rejection since these references are relevant to the claimed invention.
